Dear Residents,

As fall arrives in North Ridgeville, our parks and recreation programs offer wonderful opportunities to stay active, enjoy the season and spend time with family and friends. From youth sports and fitness programs to community events and seasonal activities, this guide is filled with ways for residents of all ages to get involved.

I hope you'll take a few moments to review the programs and events offered this season. Whether you are trying something new, returning to a favorite activity or simply looking for more ways to enjoy our parks, there is something for everyone.

This is also an important time for the future of parks and recreation in North Ridgeville. Work is underway on the Parks and Recreation Master Plan, which will help guide the next several years of improvements, programming and planning for our parks, facilities, trails and green spaces. Public input is a key part of this process and I encourage residents to share their ideas during the multiple opportunities that will be available. Your feedback will help shape priorities and ensure our park system continues to meet the needs of our growing community.

There are also more ways than ever to stay informed. In addition to our website, Facebook pages, weekly videos, monthly eNewsletter and city alerts, the City of North Ridgeville is now on Instagram. This is another way for residents to follow city updates, community events, project information and highlights from around town.

I want to thank our Parks and Recreation staff, volunteers and Commission members for their continued dedication to providing quality programs and maintaining welcoming spaces for our community to enjoy.

As we move through the fall season, I hope you take advantage of the many programs and events offered in this guide. I also hope you will stay engaged as we plan for the future of parks and recreation in North Ridgeville.

Sincerely,

Mayor Kevin Corcoran

Three Estate Planning Mistakes

Three Estate Planning Mistakes Families Discover too late: many families assume they have everything “handled.” Sadly, the most common estate planning mistakes aren’t discovered until after someone becomes ill or passes away. In this session you’ll discover: The 3 most common estate planning mistakes; how to tell if your current plan has one or more of them; the simple steps that can prevent expensive problems later. You’ll leave knowing whether your family is protected — or exposed.

Nuts & Bolts of Trusts

When They Help and When they Don’t! Trusts are often promoted as a way to avoid guardianship & probate, reduce delays, and simplify things for your family — but they’re not always the right solution. Come learn: how trusts actually work; when they can help families avoid court costs and delays; situations where a trust may not be necessary. You’ll leave with a better understanding of whether a trust belongs in your estate plan — or not.

Will A Nursing Home Take Everything?

What the rules actually say. Long-term nursing care costs more than $100,000 per year, per person. Many families worry that a nursing home could consume everything they’ve worked for. The reality is more complicated than most people realize. In this session learn: what Medicare, Medicaid and insurance actually cover. Why some families lose everything while others protect significant assets. Planning options that can preserve resources for a spouse & others. If you’ve ever wondered how families protect assets while still qualifying for care, this session will clarify the rules.

Planning For The Future Of A Love One With Special Needs

For many families, the hardest question often is: “Who will care for my loved one when I can’t?” Thoughtful planning can help ensure that a child or adult with special needs or “stuck in the nest” continues to receive care, support and financial resources throughout their life. In this program you’ll learn: How disability benefits interact with family financial planning; legal tools that can help protect eligibility for benefits; the role of guardianships, trusts, and key legal documents; how families can organize information so future caregivers are prepared. You’ll leave with a clearer understanding of the steps families can take to protect the long-term future of a loved one with special needs.
